

iTunes to Android - Transfer DRM M4V movies to android devices

This article will showing you the best way to transfer iTunes to Android devices, easy copy iTunes movies to android tablets (e.g. Galaxy Tab, Note, Nook Tablet, Iconia Tab, XOOM) and smartphones (e.g. Galaxy S5, HTC one M8), if you want to watch the purchased iTunes movies/tv shows on Android devices, just keep reading the following tips.

Situation 1: I Recently purchased an android tablet namely Kindle Fire HDX, and I since I cannot use itunes movies and tv shows on Kindle Fire, how can I get my old itunes m4v videos to my new android tablet?

Situation 2: As much as I would love to have an iPad, I can't afford one so I've bought an Android tablet called Samsung Galaxy Note 10.1, and would like to know how can I play iTunes vidoes bought from the iTunes store, .m4v files, on the Android tablet?

iTunes to Android tablets, smartphones and other devices

Software you need:

1, TuneChef - a professional itunes video drm removal and converter software

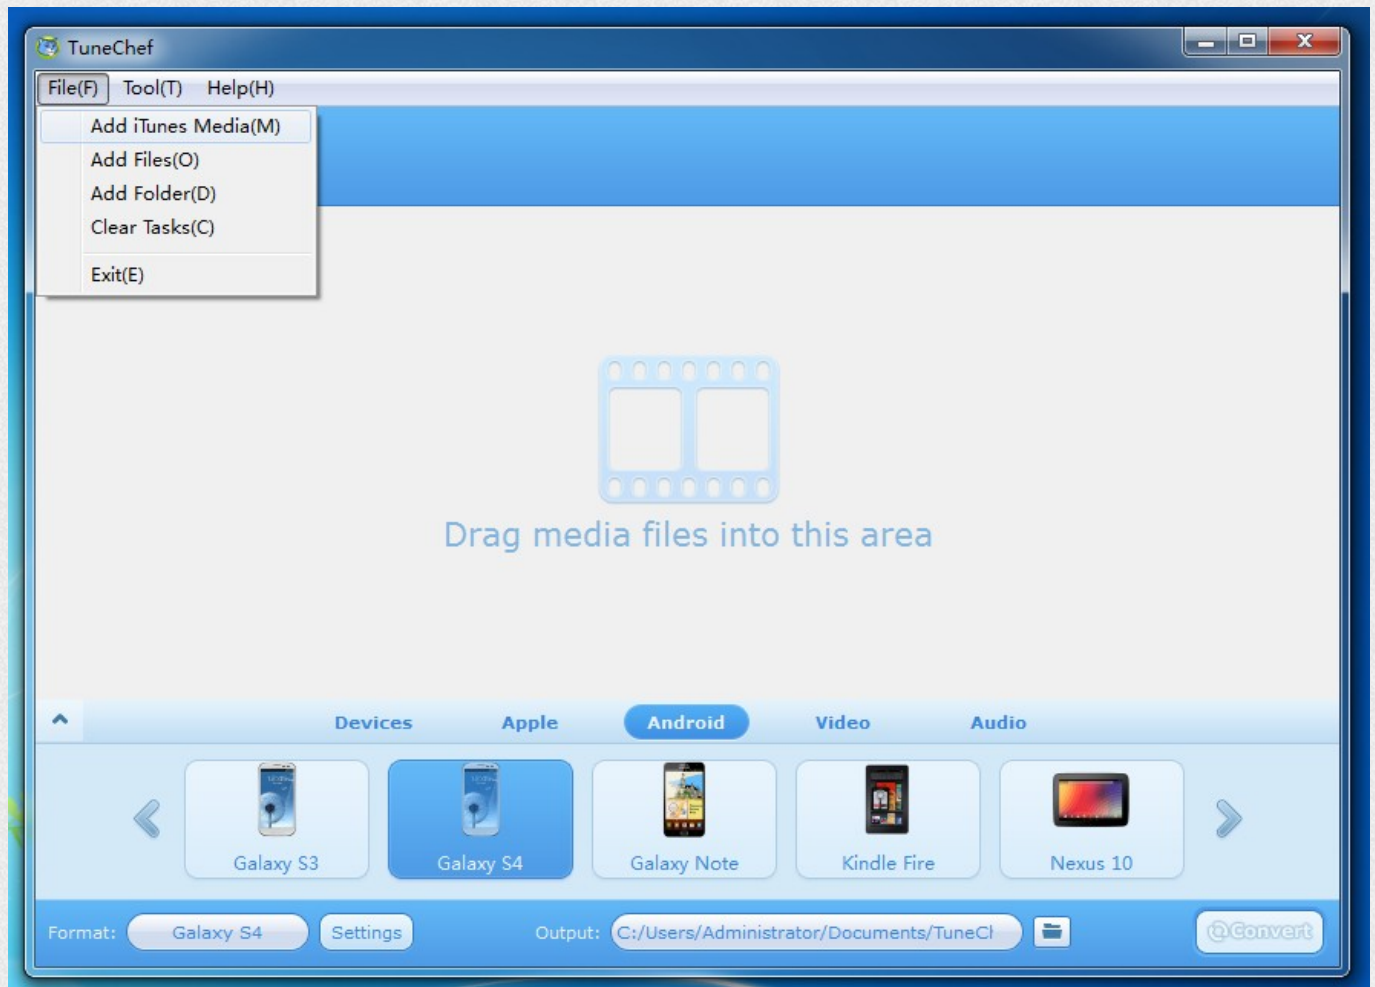

2, iTunes software installed

How to copy iTunes to android - Step-by-step

Step 1, Install the powerful M4V Converter software namely TuneChef on your computer, supports WinXP, Vista, Win7, Win8 (32bit and 64bit supported)

Step 2, Find the M4V videos file from hard disk, then load them in to the main window of TuneChef

Step 3, Select the output profile for your android device, like Kindle Fire, Galaxy S5 series, etc.

Step 4, Then, just click the “Convert” button to start converting M4V files to a common video, after conversion, then you can easy copy transfer iTunes M4V to Android devices

When the conversion process completed, you'll get the common videos, you can transfer the converted videos to android devices via USB.